Dear Parents and Carers:

This Week:

What a wonderful week of learning! Last week I outlined the curriculum for this term. For more detail and to see how this fits into the whole primary experience that we provide, please look at our website using the link below and click on the individual subjects.

Last year I explained how we use the learning programme 1 Decision for support our Personal, Social and Health Education (PSHE) together with our Relationships and Sex Education (RSE). Below is the link to the Parent/Carer Zone and I have also attached the vocabulary booklet to the email along with the newsletter. Please have a look and if you have any questions please contact me.

E-safety: (Alerts & Support)

IWF Annual Report...

On Tuesday, the Internet Watch Foundation released their annual report, an important annual report in relation to imagery. Year on year things are getting worse, the age of children being exploited/abused is getting lower. You can view the report HERE.

Huggy Wuggy...

Just prior to the Easter break there was a lot of chatter (media/social media reports) about Huggy Wuggy, including from authorities such as the Police, in relation to concerning content on YouTube, YouTube Kids, Roblox and TikTok. If you're not aware, Huggy Wuggy is a blue, furry, sharp-toothed character from a 12+ horror-genre game called Poppy Playtime. Many of the concerns were in relation to a song that Huggy Wuggy sings about hugging and killing, however some of the information was misleading.

If this is something you are hearing at home you may find THIS article from Snopes useful which looks at the facts.

For Parents - Device Rules and Boundaries...

We regularly discuss e-safety in school, both in the classroom and assembly, agreeing rules and boundaries in relation to new or current devices, set expectations of behaviour and much more. To help with this at home, FOSI (The Family Online Safety Institute) have put together some really simple but wonderful agreement sheets for parents which you can download for free and send out to your parents HERE.

The school will be closed on Bank Holiday Monday – Monday 2nd May 2022
